My philosophy

What is important to me in my work?

I must be able to make the patient “feel good” and be certain that he/she can trust me and my team. The patient must be informed in terms of his wishes, so that he understands the treatment, the progress, the results and the treatment alternatives.

With cosmetic procedures, it is important to me that in the initial consultation I learn why the patient wants the procedures and what results he or she expects.

With operations, it is important to me to provide individual care and the standard course of procedures in the most calm and relaxed atmosphere possible. If questions or problems arise after the operation, I am available for the patients.
